

where science meets art

www.interfaceinagh.com

The Board
2024

Interface Inagh CLG is a not-for-profit voluntary organisation founded by Alannah Robins.

Tax Ref No: 3456145CH

Company No. 763235

Executive director: Alannah Robins, Moyard, Co Galway

Operations are overseen by a board of directors. There are currently five non-executive directors.

- Emer Joyce: Chairperson and legal counsel, Main Stret Clifden, Co Galway
- Stephen O Callaghan: Treasurer, Moyard, Co Galway
- Sarah Jane Larkin: Secretary, The Mall, Kinsale, Co Cork
- John Sweeney: Board member, Moycullen, Co Galway
- Eamonn Maxwell: Board member, Co Kilkenny

Emer Joyce is a retired solicitor, former partner in James B Joyce with extensive experience as a solicitor and notary public.

Stephen O Callaghan has over twenty years' experience of product and software development, knowledge and change management and financial system development.

Sarah Jane Larkin is the Director General of Irish Venture Capital Association. She is an experienced Executive and Board Member with ten years International experience in Healthcare. Track record in Business Unit Management, Marketing, Business Development, Strategy Formation and Execution. Executive MBA.

John Sweeney is a Clifden based business-man with extensive and diverse business interests throughout Ireland.

Eamonn Maxwell has worked as a leading curator and advisor in the visual arts for over 20 years. He has curated more than 100 exhibitions across the world including the Irish Pavilion at the Venice Biennale in 2011. From 2009 – 2016 he was Director of Lismore Castle Arts, where he programmed significant exhibitions by leading international and Irish artists. He has been a passionate advocate for emerging artists, establishing the Emerging Artists Programme during his tenure as University Curator, University of the Arts London and he continues to mentor artists. Latterly he has worked as a collection adviser to Arts Council of Ireland, Goldsmiths College London amongst others. He has served as a board member, and sub-committees, for many not-for-profit cultural organisations. Maxwell has been a visiting lecturer at Crawford College of Art and Design, Trinity College Dublin, University College Cork, Ulster University and University College Dublin.